Bijoux Biography

Bijoux is rising as the heir apparent to the Jazz, R&B, and Soul throne in Arkansas. Her sultry and endearing vocals with vibrant entertainment and musical versatility is coupled with the intangible "IT" factor that separates the good entertainers from stars. For these reasons, this rising star is earning the respect at every turn from fans and fellow entertainers. A mixture of Nancy Wilson, Erykah Badu, and Janelle Monae, it is just a matter of time before people find out about Arkansas' hidden jewel. Bijoux's vocal prowess reflects her exposure to the different of genres ranging from folk, classic rock and roll, makossa, country, pop to hip-hop, R&B, gospel, and jazz that she experienced at an early age from her West African parents. Her powerful and heartfelt vocals with her jovial spirit distinguish Bijoux as a real deal entertainer. Gifted with the ability of a song stylist, Bijoux demonstrates an uncanny musical ability beyond her years.

Influences: Ella Fitzgerald, Anita Baker, & Paul Simon

Quotes

“When Bijoux takes the stage, her vocals are reminiscent of that warmth akin to a 45’s analog. She gracefully commands attention, causing you to get lost in the music no matter what she’s singing.” - Anthony S. Carter, Rock City Life

“A pitch perfect crooner who’s magnetic on stage and in complete command of everything” - Stephanie Smittle, Arkansas Times

“This Central Arkansas diva has a stage presence and voice that keeps sold out crowds coming back for more.” - Sarah Woolf, AY Magazine

“I’ve known bijoux for almost 10 years and all I can say is her amazing talent, and command of the stage when she performs is remarkable. She’s an amazing person inside out and fun to hire as an artist/performer for an event or just have a nice chat over coffee. ” - Uche Onyeyiri, Owner of Angelo’s Garden
